

SUIT IS FILED AGAINST WILL OF LOCAL MAN

SUIT CONTESTS WILL OF ESTOL BROTHERS, WHO DIED IN JUNE

A suit, contesting and seeking to set aside the last will and testament of Estol Brothers, deceased, has been filed in the Putnam circuit court by Edward Brothers and Opal Brothers, by James Brothers, her next friend, against the Central National Bank et al.

The Central Bank is made a defendant in the suit "as executor and as trustee of the pretended will of Estol Brothers." Other defendants are the trustees of the Clinton Falls cemetery; the board of trustees of the Indiana Masonic Grand Lodge and the Indiana Masonic Home.

The suit sets out that Mr. Brothers died on June 7, 1952, and that on June 11, Frank Stoessel as attorney for the bank, presented an alleged will of the deceased for probate. Said will was dated December 5, 1951, and witnessed by Mr. Stoessel and Ola T. Ellis.

The plaintiffs allege that said purported will is not the last will and is null and void, declaring that Mr. Brothers was of unsound mind and incapable of executing a valid will. They also charge that said purported will was unduly executed and that he did not have sufficient mental capacity to know the value and extent of his property or the number and names of those who were the natural objects of his bounty.

The estate involved in the suit is reported to be worth about $100,000.

The suit was filed by the law firm of Kivett & Kivett, representing the plaintiffs.

HIDDEN TAXES

It's about time the public became conscious of hidden taxes. Every time you telephone and the toll is more than 25 cents, you are charged with an additional twenty-five per cent as a tax. We had occasion this week to telegraph Washington, D. C. The message was $1 and the federal tax was 63 cents.

This is not only true in communications, but a fact in almost everything the public buys. The hidden taxes are about equal to the value of the item purchased.

Crops Damaged By High Water

Residents of south-west Putnam county are complaining of the high waters but no rain for their growing crops. Farmers report the low lands along Eel river have been flooded from high waters starting up stream many miles, but so far no rain had fallen in that vicinity until Thursday morning when a slight rainstorm came up from the south-west.

In other sections of the county heavy rains have fallen during the past ten days and less water than has fallen would have been much better as many corn fields along Big Walnut creek have been seriously damaged by the flood waters. Where oats fields were along the creek, they have been lost in many cases and other fields of oats and hay are lost.

Cattle Breeders Picnic July 13

The Indiana State Polled Hereford picnic will be held at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McGaughey, west of Russellville on Sunday, July 13.

There will be a reunion and gathering before a big basket dinner will be spread in the shade on the lawn of the McGaughey home. All cattle breeders and friends are invited to participate in the pitch-in meeting.

Prof. Jack Frost, head of the Animal Husbandry Department of Purdue University, will address the gathering during the early afternoon. An interesting feature of the program will be a sight guessing contest with cold cash as prizes to the winners. Mr. McGaughey has three fine heifers which he will weigh carefully and keep their weight a deep dark secret until some breeder or novice hits the number on the nose to win.

Mr. McGaughey is president of the State Association, it being his second year and as a result, the picnic is being held at his home. He is rated one of the top Polled Hereford breeders in the state.

TEXAS FLAG FLIES AT CONVENTION

WAVING ALOFT the flag of Texas, James Stichter, GOP chairman of Corpus Christi and other Eisenhower delegates from the Lone Star State, wait for rulings by the Republican national committee in Chicago on the seating of rival delegations. Ike forces suffered a setback when committee chairman Guy Gabrielson overruled an attempt to permit newly-elected national committeemen—a number favoring Eisenhower—to vote on the contests.

Girl Scout Camp In Full Swing

The 1952 Girl Scout Camp is now in full swing in Camp McCormick at McCormick's Creek State Park. The park is filled with the sounds of eighty-six campers from the local area, ranging in age from ten to fifteen years.

They are busy hiking, swimming, playing games, participating in dramatics and handicraft, and eating of course.

Girls carrying bedrolls and pack baskets are a common sight. The campers are eagerly searching for insect repellent, lost bathing caps, gun glasses, dry towels and that handicraft only half finished.

The counselors are only searching for fifteen minutes to sit down and rest—just joking. We're all having a wonderful time here in our woodland and feeling sorry for all of you back home sweltering in the heat.

IKE MAY GET SEVERAL MORE INDIANA VOTES

SOME TAFT BACKERS IN HOOSIER DELEGATION
MAY SWITCH

CHICAGO, July 3.—(INS)—Indiana backers of Sen. Robert A. Taft today were scrutinizing the Hoosier delegation to the Republican National Convention for any possible break in a solid 30-vote bloc favoring the Ohioan.

Two of Indiana's 32 delegates already have pledged themselves to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Taft leaders in Chicago feared others might bolt in favor of the former NATO commander.

There was some belief among observers that Congresswoman Cecil Harden, of Covington, might leave the Taft camp to support Ike.

Mrs. Harden, who also is Indiana Republican National Committeewoman, voted with the Ike forces Tuesday to allow television and newsreel cameras and radio microphones to present an on-the-spot report of National Committee proceedings.

She vociferously denounced the Taft-led committee action which banned TV, radio and newsreels from the pre-convention sessions.

National Committeeman Ralph F. Gates, Columbia City, however, voted with the Taft forces. Gates, a former Indiana governor is one of the Ohio Senator's staunchest lieutenants in the Hoosier state.

Gates said in Chicago a "careful check" is being made to keep the Indiana group in the Taft column. He expressed the fear that one or two delegates might pull a last-minute switch.

Mrs. Harden called the National Committee's action "a great mistake," she said.

"I believe that the Republican Party will lose thousands of votes because television was banned from our National Committee meeting. I know many persons too poor to afford television who nevertheless bought a TV set just to see what happens at the convention. They want to see all of it—not just a part of it."

Ivan H. Morgan, of Austin, is another Indiana delegate whom it is rumored might switch to Ike.

Meanwhile, in Indianapolis, State Taft manager Lisle Wallace said today he does not believe the Indiana delegation will yield to Eisenhower "pressure."

Wallace said he believes the delegates will consider "seriously" the instruction given them by the GOP state convention to support Taft. He explained that similar instructions were given the delegation to the 1936 GOP conclave to back Gov. Alfred Landon of Kansas and the entire delegation stood by Landon until he won the nomination.

He predicted Taft will win on an early ballot, and said:

"We have several veterans of the 'Ve Venal Villike' blitz of 1940, and I don't think they'll be impressed at all by the Eisenhower group."

Ike and Taft leaders in Indiana also were awaiting further developments in Publisher Eugene Pulliam's threatened suit against State Chairman Cale J. Holder if Holder tries to vote the entire 32-member delegation for Taft.

The Hoosier Taft forces have two men in powerful position at Chicago. One is Gates, who is general counsel for the GOP National Committee and therefore in a strategic spot to wield influence. The other is Michael Hanrahan, of Indianapolis, who will serve as chief doorkeeper and may play a vital role in keeping Ike supporters out of the galleries.

One important Indiana Republican will be missing from the convention. He is gubernatorial nominee George N. Craig, who once supported Eisenhower but since moved into a neutral zone between the two top contenders for the presidential nomination.

A BIG DIFFERENCE

Local residents Thursday enjoyed a most welcome break in the two weeks old heat wave. At 1 p. m. The Daily Banner thermometer registered 69 degrees. At the same time yesterday, the mercury stood at 95, but the rainfall Thursday morning resulted in the temperature being cool and pleasant.

EXTRA

BERLIN, July 3.—(INS)—The three Catholic priests from Chicago arrested yesterday by East German Communist police were released today in Berlin. Details were not immediately available. It also was not learned whether a German woman guide arrested with the priests was freed.

CHICAGO, July 3.—(INS)—The southern campaign manager for Sen. Taft said today the hot dispute over Louisiana's convention delegates may be settled by compromise.

Rep Carroll Reece of Tenn., told a reporter—

"There is a possibility of a compromise. We have been talking."

Others reported that the contest might be compromised by giving one side the four delegates-at-large and the other side the nine district delegates which are in contest.

Louisiana delegates supporting Gen. Eisenhower for the presidential nomination have said previously they will have no part of any compromise. It was understood that the compromise idea is being advanced by Taft backers.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.

July 3.—(INS)—Russia vetoed today a proposed Red Cross investigation of Communist germ warfare charges and the U. S. promptly called on the UN to condemn the practice of "fabricating and disseminating such false charges."

Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik cast the 50th Russian veto in the Security Council to kill a U. S. proposal that the Red Cross conduct an inquiry on the spot, into the charges that American forces use germ warfare. The ten other council members voted for the plan.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, July 3

(INS)—Eight persons were killed and 29 injured today in the collision of a northland Greyhound bus and a stalled tractor-trailer eight miles south of Winnipeg. The bus was enroute to Winnipeg from Minneapolis.

Four of the dead were women and a fifth was a small girl. Royal Canadian Mounted Police said the bodies were mangled so badly that fingerprints would "be needed to aid in identification."

AIR DEFENSES BOLSTERED BY ROCKET PLANE

POWERFUL NEW U. S. INTER-
CEPTOR PLANE NOW IN OPERATION

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(UP)—U. S. air defenses are being bolstered by a powerful new interceptor plane, the F-94C, which fires rockets instead of machine gun bullets.

Named the Starfire, the new plane has a speed well in excess of 600 miles an hour and embodies electronics controls that perform many two-man crew combat chores including aiming and firing.

Design changes and armament make the Starfire a new plane rather than a modification of earlier F-94's now guarding the United States and Alaska, according to a joint air force-Lockheed air craft Corp. announcement.

It is an all-weather ship, capable of combat regardless of weather conditions on the ground or aloft. It can climb speedily to about 45,000 feet. The pilot is directed toward invading bombers by his own radar operator, who sits behind him, and by radar station on the ground.

Rockets are fired through tubes arranged around the plane's nose. The ship carries 24 of the navy-developed 2.75-inch anti-aircraft rockets bearing the name "Mighty Mouse."

Additional numbers can be carried in wingtip containers, where external fuel tanks normally are located. The same types of rockets are carried by the all-weather version of the F-88 Sabre, a single-seat interceptor now in production.

The Air Force said Starfires now are being delivered and a spokesman indicated that they should be assigned to combat units "within several months."

Take Children On Honeymoon

ENGLISH, Ind., July 3 (UP) A lanky West Virginian and his want-ad bride from Elkhart, Ind., left on their honeymoon today with four children.

Jesse Garrett, 49, Scott Depot, W. Va., and Mrs. Ette R. Crosbie, 32, were married by Justice of the Peace George Megnity yesterday while their four off-springs watched delightedly.

"Maybe you think it's funny to go on a honeymoon with four youngsters," Mrs. Garrett said, "but we're going to take them with us."

Garrett received hundreds of replies from a notice in the Rockport, Ind., newspaper in which he offered to share $25,000 with a suitable mate. He finally decided on Mrs. Crosbie after his two sons by another marriage decided she filled the bill of a mother "who wasn't too fat."

The couple were finally married after red tape snarled earlier efforts to wed. Residency rules and blood tests stopped the marriage temporarily, but a license was finally issued to the couple.

The new Mrs. Garrett's two young children, a son and daughter, skipped happily around the courthouse corridors while the wedding license was being made out.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

The little town of Westport, Conn., where I live, is quite a noted—or rather notorious—artists' and writers' colony.

In winter it is a very peaceful town. In New England—of which Connecticut is part—people hole in for the winter and don't really thaw out again until spring comes around.

But in summer Westport is a madhouse.

Thousands of city folk from New York infest our town. Many of the townspeople who own the houses here rent them out at fabulous prices—such as $2,000 for a seven-room house for June, July and August.

And now the four flushing begins.

The fellow who does house cleaning in overalls, puts on his Tuxedo on Saturdays and Sundays and becomes a "butler" at some cocktail party or buffet supper for 100 or 200 people.

His wife helps out, his brother-in-law and cousins do likewise—and everybody has a high old time.

Let me tell you right here and now that my wife and I don't go in for that kind of stuff at all. As a matter of fact, I have sold my house and am moving away from Westport next month.

But it isn't just the money four flushers use "natives" resent. It's the art four flushers, the folks who want to make you believe that they, too, are members of the "Mystic Knights of the Arts or Literature."

So they let their beards grow. They wear berets and the loudest possible sports jackets and black shirts and fingernails, and, if they can afford it, they race around our streets and roads in those crazy little foreign sports cars with cut-outs roaring.

I love Westport—the Westport of nature—with her hills and her beaches and her Long Island Sound.

But the summer folks—it's just impossible to like them or to get rid of them. I have even asked a very excellent exterminator. But he assured me that neither DDT nor anything else would do the trick.

I have never been able to understand what there is about the arts that makes so many want to pose as artists.

But they do—and even the successful ones go in for a lot of terrific bunk.

Take Maxwell Bodenheim of Greenwich Village, N. Y.

Thirty years ago he made a terrific sensation with his books, "Replenishing Jessica" and "Naked on Roller Skates."

Then he went "Greenwich Village."

A few days ago this 61-year-old genius was evicted from his apartment with his wife and family. His furniture was thrown out into the street and there, forlorn and forgotten, they sat waiting for friends to come along and help them.

But all whom they tried to reach were "out of town"—as friends often are when you are in need.

Last February Bodenheim, once at the top of the ladder, was arrested as a vagrant for sleeping on a subway train. The charge was dismissed after a day in jail for lack of $25 bail.

What good is four flushing? Posing as an artist is four flushing. Keeping up with the Joneses is another way of four flushing, far more frequent even than four flushing as an artist or writer.

Four flushing is nothing but a terrific inferiority complex.

It is nothing but the fear that the world may find you out not as the Lion you would like to be, but as the Louse you really are.

A JULY 4TH PRAYER

Our Country—we pray for thee, "Sweet land of liberty"; May we so remain.

"Long may our land be bright, With freedom's holy light," And with peace, again.

May the "Independence" we declared,

Help us to keep prepared For this dark hour.

"Let mortal tongues" speak loud;

"Our Fathers' God to thee"; May we be led to see Right, for our day.

And, for our posterity Give us the light to see Thy guiding way.

"My native country thee; Land of the noble free," Thy praise we sing.

Lead us into the light; "Protect us by thy might," "Great God our King." —Mrs. Grace Newby

Texas Children Get Polio Shots

HOUSTON, Tex., July 3 (UP)—Thousands of youngsters between the ages of one and six crowded into clinics today to serve as guinea pigs in an experiment which could curb polio of its killing and crippling nature.

Some 3,000 children got either injections of the serum Gamma Globulin, or of impotent gelatin—nobody knows who got which—as the mass experiment began yesterday.

They were unwilling and frightened by the sterile needles, but worried parents of Houston, where the nation's worst polio epidemic is raging, volunteered more youngsters for the injections than the clinics could handle during the first day.

By the time the test is completed, 35,000 children will have been inoculated.

Half of the 35,000 children will get injections of G. G., while the other half get injections of ordinary Gelatin.

If a high proportion of the G. G.-injected group escapes polio and a normal percentage of the others get it, Gamma Globulin will be considered a success.

Not even the 50 research workers from the University of Pittsburgh assisting Dr. William McDowell Hammon of the University Medical staff conduct the test knew who got what, G. G. or Gelatin. The two substances look exactly alike.

Each sterile needle used to inoculate a child had a serial number on it and before it was discarded the number on the needle was noted by the name of each child. The code to the serial numbers is in a safe in New York and will not be brought out until all 35,000 children have been inoculated.

FIRE RAZES TERMINAL
VINCENNES, Ind., July 3 (UP)—Authorities sought the cause today of a fire which destroyed the Motor Freight Corp. truck terminal building here Wednesday, injuring four firemen.

The blaze was fed by kerosene and motor oil, and company manager Richard Crawford dived through a window to escape the flames. Workers also saved semi-trailers, but one was destroyed.

FUNERAL SATURDAY

Rev. Dallas Rissler will have charge. Burial will be in the Croy Creek cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p. m. Friday.

Wind And Rain Hit Midlands

Most Americans suffered in a sticky, humid heat wave today as they headed for beaches and playgrounds to celebrate the Fourth of July.

Although weathermen forecast some relief from the heat on the Fourth itself, showers and thunderstorms may spoil the holiday in the Great Lakes region and other midwestern states.

The midlands were pestered by another string of tornadoes and wind and rain storms yesterday. The heavy winds gathered in the Gulf of Mexico and then swept up the Mississippi valley, splintering buildings and toppling trees.

A Grosse Pointe, Mich., man was blown out to sea and to his death by a squall off St. Petersburg, Fla., and a 5-year-old girl was electrocuted during a storm at Pleasant Plains, Ill.

Tourist Oswin Elting and his wife were floating on inner tubes in the Gulf of Mexico just off St. Petersburg when heavy winds blew them out to sea. Elting drowned but his wife was saved.

The Illinois child, Shirley Roberts, was killed when a live wire fell across a fence and the girl touched the wire of the fence.

Portions of the Southwest which are baking in a record drought prayed for rain but meteorologists warned that the region could expect only scattered showers.

Topsoil dried out and corn stalks burned yellow in much of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. Several cities rationed water as reserve supplies dwindled.

A tornado struck Harrisonville, Mo., tearing down a barn and uprooting trees.

Twisters whirled into two drive-in theaters and left a jumble of havoc behind.

At Marysville, Kan., a twister dipped briefly, smashed a drive-in movie screen, tore the roof off a projection building, leveled trees and power lines then passed on.

A storm flattened an outdoor movie screen in the Peoria-Pekin Ill., area and then wrapped an advertising blimp around power lines.

Bainbridge Lady Celebrates 83rd Birthday

Sunday, June 29th, Mrs. C. E. Mitchell celebrated her 83rd birthday in her home north of Bainbridge. Forty members of her family were present.

Among those present were her children, Arthur Mitchell and his wife of La Grange, Illinois; Donald and his wife of Washington, D. C.; Joe Mitchell of Chicago; Gladys Etnire and husband of Logansport; and Mabel Araujo and her husband of Sao Paulo, Brazil, South America.

Mrs. Mitchell's sister of Noblesville, who celebrated her 90th birthday a short time ago, drove down with her son for the day. Mrs. Mitchell has 7 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, all of which helped to make the day a lively occasion. Tables were prepared on the lovely shaded lawn and an abundance of tasty food was enjoyed by all. All of the guests showered Mrs. Mitchell with many gifts and flowers, as well as congratulations and wishes for many more happy birthdays.

Most of the family returned to their homes Sunday, however, Donald and family remained until Tuesday at which time they drove to Missouri to visit other relatives. Daughter Mabel and her husband from South America will remain until about the middle of July at which time they will go to New York to prepare for their return to Brazil on August 7th.

Mrs. Jarrell Hostess To Reelsville Club

The Reelsville Social Service Club met June 25, at the home of Mrs. Frank Jarrell. Mrs. C. V. Pollom gave thanks for the delicious chicken dinner.

The president, Mrs. Roy Johnson had charge of the business meeting. Bible study was given by Mrs. John Knight using Psalm 43. Roll call was answered with an apron exchange. After the secretary and treasurers' reports, the club was favored with an interesting travel talk by Mrs. Herman Hendreich. In 1950 Mrs. Hendreich and a cousin returned to their homeland of Germany. Their home community is near the French border. They stayed there in order to enjoy protection from the Russians. The speaker told of the bleak existence of her people in Germany. We were made to appreciate our privileges of driving our cars and using our modern homes and equipment. We realize that our American way of life is a century ahead of life in rural Germany today.

The club voted to have cancer control as its special interest at the October meeting. Material for dressings is asked for.

There will be no meeting in July. An announcement concerning time and place of the picnic will be made later.

Guests were Mrs. Loyd Fellows, Mrs. Louis Roberts, Mrs. C. V. Pollom, Mrs. Lemuel Blue, Mrs. Norman, Estes and Mrs. Herman Hendreich.

Home Ec. Chorus Will Meet Monday

West Madison Home Economics Club Meets

The West Madison club met at the home of Mrs. Oscar Summers June 25. With 12 members present and 4 4-H girls as guests.

The president, Lucile Skelton opened the meeting with the song of the month, followed by the club creed and flag salute. Roll call was tax facts, and some good ones were given, we are learning more about business and we need too.

Our lesson on business facts were given by Mrs. Hazel McCullough, she told of keeping files, have a place for the business center, banking life and property insurance. It was an interesting lesson and there was many questions and much discussions.

During our business session we planned our July family picnic, which will be at Robe Ann Park, the 23 of July at 6 p. m. DST. Also several expressed their desire to go to the Purdue conference July 29-31. The United chorus will sing the evening of the 30th.

The meeting closed with the club prayer, after which our hostess served us with delicious refreshments, while visiting on the lawn.

Case Against Far East Expert Lags

WASHINGTON, July 3 (UP)—The Justice Department will not decide for at least two months whether to prosecute far eastern expert Owen Lattimore for perjury as recommended by Senate investigators, informed sources said today.

These sources said the department is not expected to get until early next month the transcript of the Senate Judiciary committee's hearings on the Institute of Pacific Relations, a private research group interested in far eastern affairs.

The committee, headed by Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) charged yesterday that Lattimore is a "conscious instrument of the Soviet conspiracy." It recommended that the Justice department prosecute him for testifying "untruthfully" at least five times.

The Department said it would give "prompt consideration" to the committee's demand that a grand jury decide whether Lattimore and diplomat John P. Davies, Jr., committed perjury before its Internal Security subcommittee.

The FBI, at the request of the Department's Criminal Division, investigated Lattimore extensively earlier this year and has kept its inquiry up to date. Department officials refused to say whether the FBI had turned anything that might lead to a decision to prosecute the Johns Hopkins University professor.

Lattimore, who spent 12 grueling days before the subcommittee, also headed by McCarran, has steadfastly denied that he is a Communist or a Red sympathizer. He said in a statement late yesterday.

Churches Held County Meeting

The regular fifth Sunday meeting of Christian churches of Putnam county was held June 29 at the Bainbridge Christian church.

The meeting was opened by prayer by Rev. Fowler from the Fillmore church. The president, Ellen Purcell, gave a very hearty welcome to all present. There was congregational singing led by Gilbert Knetzer. Five churches responded to the roll call.

It was voted to make the fourth Sunday in July a regular date for the song fest at Somerset church. Mr. Knetzer announced there would be two rehearsals for this song fest, July 14 to 21. Each church is to furnish 14 singers.

The prayer song, "If I Have Wondered Any Saul," followed by prayer by Rev. Kitley from Roachdale.

A male quartet from Fillmore, Somerset and Bainbridge sang.

two numbers, "The Treasures of Earth" and "It Was Well With My Soul," accompanied at the piano by Carolyn Secrist.

The speaker of the evening, Rev. Althouse from the Maple Avenue church, Terre Haute, was introduced by Rev. Davison of the Bainbridge church. His subject being "Our Valuation of the Church."

The benediction was given by Rev. Saunders of Greencastle.

BED RIDDEN INVALID DOES FIRE DUTY

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — If you think all firefighters are rugged men who battle flaming buildings with streams of water or go racing up towering ladders with axe in hand, you haven't met Mabel Richmond.

Mabel doesn't don a glistening raincoat and go racing off to fires.

She can't. Miss Richmond is an invalid.

However, on her depends the fire safety of the city of Bartlett, outside Memphis.

Miss Richmond is full-time dispatcher of Bartlett's volunteer fire department. She's on duty around the clock.

She lies in bed with two telephones in easy reach. One is her private phone, the second, the fire department number.

Besides the phones is a push-button alarm that sets off a siren on the water tower. When she touches the alarm, the fire fighters come running.

Miss Richmond has the technique down pat. While she's taking down a fire report on the telephone, she sounds the siren button. She also takes down the location of the fire and the quickest and best way to get there.

In 1951 the Japanese motion picture industry released 208 features in addition to many newsreels and short subjects.

When Mr. Muzzy saw the opening lead of the six of clubs, his eyes danced. He won with the ace, and carefully returned the deuce, proud of his newly-acquired knowledge that the right return, holding four or more of partner's suit, is the fourth highest.
On the second club lead, Mr.

Meek hopelessly played the eight. Mr. Heinsite won with the jack and cashed the king. At this point the suit was very effectively blocked.
Rolling his eyes in disgust, Mr. Heinsite led a fourth club which Mr. Muzzy took with the ten. Now the fifth club could never be a winner and Mr. Meek made his contract with five diamonds, two spades and two hearts.
After a pause during which he appeared to have been struck dumb, Mr. Heinsite found his voice. "May I make so bold as to inquire why you didn't return the TEN of clubs?" he said.

Mr. Muzzy was indignant. "Because you told me only yesterday ALWAYS to return my fourth highest," he replied.
"But, man, you've got to use a little common sense in all these things."
Mr. Muzzy could think of no good answer to this. Oh yeah? he said.
"Good point, Muzzy," smiled Mr. Meek.
Deadly serious as usual, Mr.

Heinsite barged right ahead. "It's usually best to return your fourth highest," he lectured, "but this case is an exception. Where you hold three honors in my suit. . . ."
"Now wait," snapped Mr. Muzzy. "Don't throw exceptions at me. I don't even know the rule yet."
This forthright remark brought down the house. "There is nothing you can say to stop that, Mr. Heinsite," remarked Miss Brash. "You have definitely lost the argument."
